HEAR DEBATE ON QUESTIONS SOON UP FOR VOTE

West Glendale Improvement Association Meets and Holds Busy Session

Members of the West Glendale Improvement association were given an explanation last night of the various claims to recognition of the osteopaths, chiropractors and M. D.'s, the meeting, at which a number of other matters were discussed, was held at the Columbus Avenue school.

A representative was in attendance to present the side of each of the professions matters coming up for vote at the election. After all three men had spoken they were each given an additional period in which to answer charges and questions.

The first speaker on the program, however, was W. C. Anspaugh, who represented the American Legion, and asked the support of the organization in regard to propositions No. 1 and 3 of the California Veterans' legislation, which are to be voted upon at the November election. After a brief explanation the association went on record as favoring the propositions mentioned.

Professional Debate
In the professional debate which was held, Dr. Ernest Bashor was the speaker. He spoke on what he termed the "present injustice" of having the osteopaths examined by the State Medical board. He pointed out the need as he sees it of having a separate board to examine the osteopaths and the doctors. He also pointed out that the proposed change would not mean the adding of increased taxes as the proposition would be self-sustaining.

Dr. J. C. Fortin of Los Angeles represented the chiropractors, and in many ways also covered the same ground as Dr. Bashor. He declared that there are no safeguards of the profession at the present time, but that the chiropractic initiative act provides for the schooling and proper regulating of the profession.

"The public should have the privilege of a choice of the doctor they want," he declared.

Dr. E. P. Nippert of Los Angeles represented the M. D.'s. He termed the present method as important to public health and public safety.

"It is not a question of more boards, but of more education," said Dr. Nippert.

In reply to the requests for separate board to examine applicants for licenses in the other professions, he declared that it is a matter of record that there are twenty-seven other healing sects that might also request separate boards. He declared that the costs would be enormous, and such change might lead to the

EDUCATION BOARD PLANS FOR WORK

Number of Matters Come Up for Discussion at Session Last Night

The grammar school board of education met last night to discuss problems of school administration.

Miss Mabel J. Elizabeth of 328 Hawthorne street was employed as a part-time teacher for sewing and cooking. On account of her health, she did not teach last year but taught the previous year at the Holtville high school in Imperial valley.

The local chapter of the Red Cross was authorized to conduct its annual membership drive in the school system.

Instead of transporting pupils in the overcrowded fourth and fifth grades at Pacific school to the Columbus school, it was decided to move a bungalow on the Columbus grounds to the Pacific grounds. This will be done as soon as possible.

Twenty-six disabled and ill children are unable to attend school at the present time, according to a survey submitted. Superintendent R. D. White believes this number will be considerably reduced because some of them are only out of school temporarily. Others are of high school age. The board decided to employ a teacher to visit their homes up to one-half a day's work per day.

Because of the fact that Miss Emma Saxton, principal of the Magnolia school, has thirty-nine children there in four grades, the board decided to transfer the six children in the A-2nd grade to the Cerritos school.

The appointment of a school nurse was referred to the teachers' committee, consisting of Mrs. A. A. Barton and Mrs. Arthur Brown, with power to act. Mr. White reported three applicants for the position.

POSTOFFICE OPEN
The Glendale postoffice will remain open tomorrow, Columbus Day, it is announced by Postmaster D. Ripley Jackson. The departments will be open and deliveries made as usual.

GOVERNMENT UNABLE TO AID IN GETTING PETE ALQUIN
SACRAMENTO, Oct. 11.—Secretary of State Hughes wired to Governor Stephens today that the federal government is unable to assist in the extradition from Mexico of "Pete" Alquin, wanted in Los Angeles for the murder of Detective John F. Fitzgerald. Hughes stated that owing to the failure of the United States to recognize the Mexican government there is no extradition agreement between the two nations.

SEWER QUESTION AGAIN CONSIDERED

Officials of Two Cities In Conference; Long Delay
Before Connection

Glendale's proposed connection with the Los Angeles outfall sewer system was the subject of a conference yesterday afternoon in the Los Angeles City hall between representatives of the city of Los Angeles and the city of Glendale.

The meeting was attended by Walter Mallard and R. M. Allan, members of the sanitary committee of the City Council of Los Angeles. Glendale was represented by Mayor Spencer Robinson, City Manager W. H. Reeves and Councilmen Sam Davis, C. E. Kimlin and A. H. Lapham. Dr. Jessie Russell, president of the Federalated Improvement association, was present, also.

The report that Glendale could not connect with the proposed outfall sewer system before 1926 or 1927 was confirmed officially. No estimate on the probable cost could be obtained. Mr. Mallard suggested that Glendale should submit a proposition for the consideration of the Los Angeles City Council. He was unable to give the local representatives any facts upon which such a proposition could be based.

The matter is to be taken up in the near future with interested departments of the Los Angeles city administration. If a basis for negotiations can be reached, the matter will be referred back to the city council.

Preparing Now for Holiday Mail Rush

The Glendale postoffice is preparing early for the annual Christmas rush of mail, according to Postmaster D. Ripley Jackson. The department is endeavoring to get in touch with some one able to furnish four or five medium sized trucks for about ten days during the holidays.

In the past it has often been necessary to use small automobiles which it is felt will be unable to handle the situation this year because of the rapid growth of the city. A rental fee will be paid for the use of the trucks, it is announced.

Plans are also being made to use the high school boys for special work as has been the practice in the past.

General Election In England Predicted

LONDON, Oct. 11.—There will be a general election in Great Britain before Christmas, declared the Chronicle, official mouthpiece of Premier Lloyd George, today.

It is possible, according to the Chronicle, that the election will be held after parliament adjourns late this month.

Glendale Union high school's first debate this season in the new Central Debating League will be with South Pasadena high school.

This fact was determined yesterday afternoon at a meeting of league officials in Alhambra high school. It was attended by Miss Mary Gladys Corry of the public speaking department of the local high school and Mrs. Ethel Moysie, vice principal.

Neither the date nor the subject for the first debate was chosen. Glendale will choose the subject and South Pasadena will choose the side it prefers.

Glendale will participate also in the debates of the Southern California League.

New York Greet Spring; Signs of Very Cold Winter

NEW YORK, Oct. 11.—Spring has come again—in New York at least. A robin was reported today from Central park. Bluebirds and thrushes are thick as mosquitoes in Bronx park. In City Hall park the grass is green and the trees have begun to bud.

It is all on account of the hot wave, accompanied by rainstorms that have prevailed the past week. It is more like April than October.

Squash vines have begun to blossom in the garden of Thomas Jenkins on Staten Island.

Easter lilies are in bloom in the garden of Mrs. Frank McAfee, in Brooklyn.

PEACH AND APPLE TREES IN FULL BLOOM
HAGERSTOWN, Md., Oct. 11.—Peach and apple trees are in full bloom in many Cumberland valley orchards, the first time such a freak of nature has occurred in several decades.

WINTER; HERE IS SIGN
PITTSBURGH, Oct. 11.—It's going to be a mighty cold winter if the animals in Western Pennsylvania are not nature-faking.

Here in Allegheny county cows and horses have taken on a very heavy winter coat. This is a sure sign that it is going to be a long stretch of exceedingly cold weather, old timers who watch the signs say.

Even more unusual is the old-fashioned sign of zero weather. Pullets have moulted. Plumage provided for the first of the year has been dropped and rough feathers have replaced the usual light covering. Even the collie dog on farms hereabouts have grown very heavy, shaggy coats.

Up at Kane, Pa., William Altman says hornets' nests are hanging high this fall. Sure sign of long winter and deep snow. The coat of the cat-pup is black this fall, which, according to forest lore, forecasts severe cold weather.

HOLD INSPECTION OF ORGANIZATION

Daughters of Veterans Get Compliments by Visiting Officers Last Night

The annual inspection of the work and books of Mary Jane Gillette Tent No. 18, Daughters of Veterans, of which Mrs. Susie Peek is president, took place last night at the regular meeting in American Legion hall, the work of inspection being done by Department Inspector Martha Jones of the Jessie Benton Fremont Tent No. 4 of Los Angeles. She complimented Miss Audrey Hall, treasurer; Mrs. Hattie Tiffany, secretary, and Mrs. Gertrude Griffin, press correspondent, for the accuracy and neatness with which their books were kept.

Department Musician Winona Crawford of Helen Jean Christie Tent No. 17 of Los Angeles was also present, and congratulated the tent on their membership and large attendance. A talk on fellowship and the sisterly feeling existing between the various tents was given by Mrs. Lemna Beachey, president of the Ann Spencer Tent No. 29 of Los Angeles.

Interesting Account
Past Department President Fanny Medlar of Tent No. 17, who recently returned from the National Convention in Des Moines, gave an interesting account of the part California took at the convention, and stated that the most important elective office, that of junior vice-president, had been won by Past Department President Maybelle Plymire of San Francisco and seven opponents, and which means that in 1924 she will advance to the president's chair.

Other visitors present who gave short talks were Mrs. Holbrook of Tent No. 29, Mrs. Nancy Deans of Tent No. 17 and Mrs. Dora Cooper of Tent No. 29. In behalf of the members of Mary Jane Gillette Tent, Mrs. Susie Peek, president, presented the inspector with a beautiful blue Italian glass fruit bowl.

For Children's Hospital
Announcement was made that a collection of jellies and fruits is being made for the Children's Hospital in Sunland and any donations for this purpose may be sent to Mrs. Gertrude Griffin, 205 West Acacia avenue before Friday of this week.

The next meeting of the Tent, to be held October 24, will be a meeting with program and refreshments, and will be in charge of Mrs. Queen Danner, chairman. Col. James Everington of the American Legion will give an address. The members of the Nimble Finger club will meet Monday night, October 16, at 7:30 o'clock, with Miss Ruth Spafford, 214 East Chestnut street. At the close of last night's meeting delicious home-made pumpkin pies and coffee were served.

C. OF C. LUNCHEON GUESTS DISCUSS MANY THINGS

Receive New Members; Aid for Band Need; Endorsement of Vet Measures

While there were no outside speakers at the weekly luncheon of the Glendale Chamber of Commerce yesterday noon, a number of important matters were brought to the attention of the directors and members.

It was announced by Secretary James M. Rhoades that the following had made application for membership in the organization: Crane Company, Los Angeles; Walcott Beauty Service, 136 South Brand boulevard; I. Cline, 436 West Wilson avenue; Union Pacific System; Mrs. A. W. Gobelet, 2715 Hermosita drive; Nelson Insurance agency, 7 Central building; Glass A Meat Market, 207 North Brand boulevard; Potter Radiator corporation, 5954 Pasadena avenue; C. P. Nesselrode, Burbank; Brombacher Iron Works, Los Angeles. All of the applications were accepted.

Dr. Jessie Russell reported that an additional $225 had been added to the recent tag day fund for the electrification of Glendale avenue. The money was received from a number of different sources.

Band Needs Funds
A letter was read by Secretary Rhoades, from the leader of the Elks club band, pointing out the need for additional funds with which to carry on the public band concerts. An additional $25 per week is needed, it was announced. W. B. Kelley of the Exchange club pledged $5 a week as the amount that organization would donate toward the deficit. Secretary Rhoades is to take the matter up with the Elks band and make a report at the next meeting.

A brief outline of the work of the school for Chamber of Commerce secretaries and others that was conducted recently at Stanford university, was given by Mr. Rhoades. Following the talk on the school, Mr. Rhoades read a financial statement which showed the affairs of the local chamber to be in good condition. The statement was referred to the auditing committee.

On next Tuesday Bert Woodard is to talk on the many important questions that will face the voters on the November ballot. Members desiring to attend have been requested to make reservations in advance, as this week's attendance greatly exceeded the estimate.

Favor the Veterans' Act
The American Legion requested that the Glendale chamber go on record for or against proposals Nos. 1 and 3 in the veterans' act, which are to come up for vote at the election. Various phases of the act were explained by members

BUSINESS CLUB HEARS OF TRIP

Miss Carrie Noble Tells of Attending Big Convention of U. S. Educators

At the regular monthly business meeting of the members of the Business and Professional Women's Club of Glendale held last night at the club rooms, 126 South Maryland avenue, Miss Carrie Noble, principal of the Wilson avenue intermediate school, who was a delegate from Glendale to the National Education Association convention held at Boston, told of her trip. She stated that there are between 700,000 and 800,000 teachers in the United States and that 100,000 members of the association were present at the sixtieth national convention, which was held at Boston from July 2 to 7.

The business women's club was represented by Dr. Laura Brown, president; Mrs. Margaret Biggs and Mrs. Elsie Williams at the county federation banquet last Tuesday in Los Angeles and Dr. Brown spoke briefly of a lecture which was given there on "Vocational Guidance Work," which is also one of the branches of activity of the local organization.

Plans were discussed regarding the banquet to be given in Glendale on Thursday, November 2, for the county federation of business and professional women's clubs, the place of meeting to be announced later. Mrs. Kemper Campbell will be the speaker at the banquet, her topic being "Finding One's Life's Occupation."

Mrs. Virginia Freeman will also give vocal numbers.

Report was made that the local club had raised $225.75 for the new Glendale avenue electric railroad. Acting upon the request of the local post of the American Legion, the club members passed a resolution whereby the club went on record as being in favor of the Veterans' Validating Act and also the Soldiers' Bonds, which are to be voted on at the coming state election.

Baroness Ottilie de Ropp will give an address on "Russian Peasantry Under the Russian Yoke" at the social meeting of the club on October 24.

MRS. DANIEL CAMPBELL, LEADER OF TUESDAY AFTERNOON CLUB, MAKES PLEA FOR CO-OPERATION

President of Women's Organization, at Opening of Fall Activities, Outlines Problems; Urges Members to Work in Harmony

Cooperation, which is to be the watchword of the members of the Tuesday Afternoon Club of Glendale throughout the year, was the keynote of the message given at the first meeting of the year that organization yesterday afternoon at Masonic Temple by Mrs. Daniel Campbell, president.

Through cooperation, she stated, the foundation of the new clubhouse was made possible and only through further cooperation can it be carried to a successful completion. To carry on the club motto, "In Unity There is Strength," with renewed vigor was the closing thought in the president's message, which is given in full as follows:

"Members of the Tuesday Afternoon club:

"As I greet you this afternoon, I am impressed with two important facts: First, I can not help but feel the pride which comes with being the president of this organization. To be president or any other officer of this club spells honor; and I cherish the position which you have conferred upon me as one of the greatest pleasures of my life. And second, I am impressed with the responsibility of my office—not in any sense that I feel it a burden. Rather, on the other hand, to assume the responsibilities I have mentioned is a great pleasure for me, but without being intoxicated with blissful blindness. I must admit that there will be certain responsibilities which we must meet.

Modest Beginning

"I believe one has a right to be proud of the Tuesday Afternoon club. There are some here today who will recall our modest beginning. It was in 1904—eighteen years ago—that a small group of women in Glendale saw the necessity of a woman's club. They were those women who did not have the interests of self foremost, but rather were moved by a spirit of unselfishness and a desire to do good. They saw the opportunity and the proof that such opportunity existed is to be found in the splendid and healthy growth of our club, until today we have an active organization of members ready, willing and able to take that forward step which will continue to spread the name of the Tuesday Afternoon club, together with its helpful work. Just as our beloved city of Glendale has continued to grow during these last eighteen years, so has the Tuesday Afternoon club. With every year we have added new members, because we have had something attractive to offer. The club has stood for eighteen years with the club colors of green and gold never fading, and each group of officers and members has had an intense vision of some day owning a real club house. In our effort to have that dream materialize, and with that goal before us, we have purchased property, sold property, given parties, bazaars, dinners, musicales and what not, until now we can see our club home rising bigger and better than our wildest dreams or flights of imagination could ever picture. Is that not cause enough to be proud? In this home, which is rising, every woman can find her place helping on committees, joining sections—all working together to reduce our indebtedness and receiving the pleasure and companionship which can be found here. Won't it be a real joy to have plenty of room, an adequate auditorium (with sloping floor), a large and pleasant dining room, a quiet place for a cup of tea (or perhaps you prefer coffee), a large, well-equipped kitchen, and every other luxury and necessity that makes a real club home?

In Own Home

"Many people are comfortable for a time in rented quarters, but when one can point out a place and say, 'This is our home,' the great spirit which made it possible will flush in each of our faces with a burning pride. So it is going to be with us as we start out this year, knowing that before another year has passed we will be in our own home. We can do it, just as we have accomplished every other object we have set before us. To think of this club as one big family enjoying good music, listening to inspiring lectures and placing an everlasting

FIRST MEETING OF CLUB WOMEN IS LARGE SUCCESS

Reports of Summer Work,
Address by President and Program of Music

Music, an inspiring address on "Co-operation" and a very satisfying report of the summer activities by the ways and means committee were a few of the features which were outstanding at the meeting of the members of the Tuesday Afternoon club at Masonic Temple yesterday afternoon, marking the beginning of perhaps the most important year in the eighteen-year history of that organization. For, during this year will be realized one of the aims of the club, the completion of a permanent club home at Lexington drive and Central avenue.

Preceding the regular meeting, which was in charge of the new president, Mrs. Daniel Campbell, a reception was held, beginning at 2 o'clock. Those in the receiving line were Mrs. Daniel Campbell, Mrs. A. H. Montgomery, Mrs. C. W. Houston, Mrs. J. T. Crampton, Mrs. A. P. Findley, Mrs. E. W. W. Hayward and Mrs. H. E. Bartlett, while Mrs. Frank Ayars, Mrs. M. E. Plasterer and Mrs. John Robert White were kept busy receiving the club members due.

Patriotic Beginning

A very fitting and appropriate beginning to the club session was the flag salute led by Mrs. Lillian Dow, patriotic chairman. In the absence of Mrs. John Dunn, Mrs. H. E. Bartlett substituted as recording secretary. Miss Isabel Tousey, a student at Glendale Union high school, gave a short talk urging the support of the club members at the coming high school bond election.

Mrs. Daniel Campbell, who is president, announced that beginning with the meeting October 24, there will be community singing from 1:30 o'clock until the regular club session, led by Hugo Kirchhofer, and urged all club members to attend, whether they have any special vocal talent or not.

Of especial interest was the report given by Mrs. A. H. Montgomery, first vice president and chairman of the ways and means committee, on the summer activities which have been given for the benefit of the club building fund, and included the following:

Beefsteak dinner	$102.95
Pendry's sale	125.00

THEATRES

The T. D. & L.

The T. D. and L. theatre was crowded again last night for Norma Talmadge's feature picture, "The Eternal Flame." She gives a most finished portrayal of the duchess in her latest and greatest starring vehicle, while Conway Tearle, as De Montreuil, gives one of the most artistic and convincing delineations of his screen career.

"The Eternal Flame" is the first picture Miss Talmadge has made since "Smilin' Through" and it promises to outdo the records established by that success.

During the discussion the speakers emphasized that the amendment was not merely a juggling with fiscal systems but "the call for public purposes of a vast fund now entirely lost to the community through a system of trafficking in lands."

It was further stated that this fund belonging to the public could be called into the public treasury by this amendment. An explanation was also given of the difference in taxing land and taxing commodities.

"Taxing land makes it cheap and easy to get, while taxing things makes them dear and scarce," it was declared.

The financial report of the club shows that during the past year the income amounted to $4249.22 and the expenses amounted to $3,161.63, which leaves a net gain for the year of $1087.59. The total assets are listed as $12,800.29.

The club was organized in 1903, incorporated in 1907, federated in 1908, and the total membership today is 219.

The officers of the club are listed as follows: President, Mrs. M. T. Lee; first vice president, Mrs. R. W. Stephens; second vice president, Mrs. Archibald Fisk; third vice president, Mrs. C. M. Hensley; recording secretary, Mrs. J. M. Moshier; corresponding secretary, Mrs. C. W. Hunt; treasurer, Mrs. J. C. Clausen; auditor, Mrs. Arthur Doucet.

The club meets every second and fourth Thursday in the month, and the last Saturday of each month is the date for dances. Card parties are held on the first Friday afternoon of each month.

Luncheon will be served to club members and friends of the club at 1 o'clock on the second Thursday of the month, and reservations should be made not later than the Tuesday preceding, it is announced.

WOMAN'S CLUB TO START YEAR ON THURSDAY NOON

Plan Interesting Program for Luncheon of Members on That Day

The Twentieth Century Woman's Club will mark the formal opening of the year Thursday, October 12, when a daily luncheon will be served at 1 o'clock.

A delightful musical program of selections on the Knabe with the Ampico will be provided through the courtesy of M. T. Hancock of the Hancock Music company, and, in addition to the piano numbers, Mr. Hancock has arranged to have Way Watts, famous singer of popular songs, and Newton L. Hancock of Pasadena to play several numbers on the saxophone.

Following the musical numbers the water and power act will be the subject for discussion. Miss Marie Brehm of Long Beach, who has been one of the most active women of the state, will speak against the passing of the act, and it is understood that Mrs. W. L. Cing, chairman of the committee, will secure another well known speaker to take the other side of the question.

It has also been arranged to have Mrs. Chester C. Ashley take the Wright act as her subject as the luncheon speaker.

BIRTHDAY PARTY HELD FOR TWINS

Event Given at Home of C. W. Young of Eagle Rock; Twenty Guests

Mrs. J. D. Horton of Kenneth Road, Glendale, entertained with a children's party on Monday afternoon in honor of her twin children, Lucile and Lucien, who celebrated their seventh birthday.

A party was given on the spacious grounds at the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Young of Rock Glen, Eagle Rock, who are god parents of Lucile and Lucien.

There were twenty little guests present and the colors were carried out in rainbow effect. The children wore caps and false faces, and took great enjoyment in exploring the spacious grounds of the Young home.

One of the most unique features of the afternoon was when the little ones formed in line and marched to where little baskets were hung on the clothes line and took their baskets under the big pepper tree and enjoyed a picnic lunch. Mrs. Horton was assisted by Mrs. Arnold of Los Angeles.

SIXTY VILLAGES BURNED
LONDON, Oct. 11.—The Greek exodus from Thrace is marked by conflagrations and pillage, said a Sofia dispatch to the Daily Express today. Sixty villages are reported to have been pillaged and burned by the Greeks in their wild flight westward before the Turks crossed into Europe from Asia.

NEW CITY HALL TO BE READY SOON IN EAGLE ROCK

May Move by First of Next Month; Other Events for 'News' Readers

Ben B. Martsoff, city clerk of Eagle Rock, together with a representative of the Rommel Construction company and the architect of the new city hall, spent about an hour yesterday afternoon at a conference inspecting the new building.

It is understood that with the exception of re-surfacing the concrete work at the entrance, putting a capping on the retaining walls that lead from the sidewalk to the entrance, and a few other minor details, the building is practically ready for acceptance. There is little doubt but what it will be occupied by the first of the coming month, it is announced.

Celebrates Birthday
Sol Gans, proprietor of the "Stand" in the Sam Seelig market in Eagle Rock, celebrated his fiftieth birthday yesterday.

Asked as to what he attributed his evident good health on reaching the half century mark, Sol replied that he laid it all to hard work and not getting to bed until late at night.

He then took the occasion to step on the scales to see what his weight was on his fiftieth birthday and discovered that he weighed just 235 pounds.

Building Permits
The following building permits were issued in Eagle Rock Tuesday:

Mrs. M. A. Canady, 401 Angelus avenue, two-room residence, estimated cost $300.

"Certainly, we are going to close tomorrow," declared Mrs. Ray Bees, cashier of the water department. "If it hadn't been for Christopher Columbus, we wouldn't have had any city hall in Eagle Rock."

WOMEN'S CLUB IN FIRST SESSION

Very Interesting Program Is Given to Members at Meeting Yesterday

the balance being kept on hand for purchases for the society circus to be given in November. A rising vote of thanks was given to Mrs. Montgomery. She also announced the names of members who would have charge of the various booths and concessions at the society circus and bazaar, a list of which recently appeared in The Glendale Evening News, and in addition to which was given the name of Mrs. W. A. Tanner, who will have charge of the doll booth. Mrs. Montgomery stated that H. S. Webb of the H. S. Webb dry goods store had donated, through Mrs. C. O. Pullian, 130 dolls for the doll booth. These dolls, she stated, will be dressed free of charge by the domestic science class of the high school, and asked that club members bring scraps of silk or organdie and laces, etc., which can be used for making doll dresses, to the next club meeting.

Section Meeting
Mrs. W. E. Evans, general curator, announced the following section meetings:

Literary Section—October 17, at 2 o'clock at home of curator, Mrs. J. E. Sargent, 717 North Louise street. Visitors invited to be present.

Arts and Crafts Section—The first and third Thursdays at 10 o'clock in art department of Pendroy's, next lesson to be the painting of composition flowers.

Bible Section—With curator, Mrs. J. E. Lyon, 619 North Maryland avenue, the fourth Monday at 2 o'clock.

Young maids and matrons, organization meeting at home of Mrs. A. M. Draper, 534 North Kenwood, Tuesday, October 17 at 2 o'clock. Mrs. Julian Hayward, curator.

Drama Section—At home of Mrs. E. A. Bode, 138 North Orange street, Friday, October 20, at 2 o'clock.

Legislative Section—Wednesday, October 11, at 10 o'clock at home of Mrs. B. O. Holbrook.

Mrs. Campbell stated that already the arts and crafts section, which is limited to thirty-five members, has a waiting list of twenty-one, and it might become necessary to form another class. She also called attention to the new club year book, which most attractively carries out the club colors of green and gold, and asked that the members acquaint themselves with the interesting material contained in the book.

Elect New Chairman
On account of ill health Mrs. C. B. Guttard has resigned as chairman of local relief and Mrs. Eugene W. Gilliland will take charge of that work. Another change announced was that of the young maids and matrons' section meeting on Tuesdays instead of on Wednesdays.

Mrs. Campbell announced that the life membership committee, which includes Mrs. A. P. Findlay, Mrs. A. M. Hunt and Mrs. H. E. Bartlett, have secured fifty-two life members and expressed the desire that this number be raised to 100.

Mrs. John Robert White offered an amendment to the constitution, whereby any club member in good standing might apply for life membership, instead of any member who has continued in good standing for five years. She also moved that the amendment regarding changing the amount of the annual club dues be made a special order of business to be taken up at the next regular meeting, which motion carried. Various methods of raising money for furnishing the clubhouse were also discussed.

Musical Program
Following the president's message on "Co-operation," which appears in detail elsewhere in this issue of The Evening News, an interesting musical program was given, including the following numbers:

Harp solo, "Ballade" (Hasselmanns), by Mrs. Enona Hopkins; "Moonlight," by the Nevin quintette; Mrs. Charles Parker, director; Mrs. A. M. Draper, Mrs. Frank Arnold, Mrs. John D. Cole and with Miss Gertrude Champlain substituting for Mrs. L. N. Hagood as accompanist. Mrs. Hopkins also accompanied them at the harp. The second number given by the quintette was "Barcarolle," from the "Love Tales of Hoffmann," Mrs. Parker and Mrs. Arnold gave a duet "Dear Mother" (Jeffries).

Mrs. Daniel Campbell, the new president, was showered with beautiful bouquets and baskets of flowers, in addition to the applause of the very large attendance, at the close of her inspiring message. It was, perhaps, the largest attendance which has been present at any meeting of the club and was proof of the need for the new club home where a larger number will be accommodated.

CALLED TO FIRE
The Eagle Rock fire truck was called yesterday afternoon to put out a brush fire on West Ridge avenue, it is announced. Because of the manner in which the cause of the fire, which the house was, was sounded, Harry Williams stated that there was a slight delay in getting started. No damage was done, the report states.

This latest estimate of the prohibition death toll was made by prohibition enforcement officials today. The list was said to include the names not only of government prohibition agents, but sheriffs and local officials. VERNON DEFEATED IN FIRST GAME; 14 INNINGS

Looks Like Tigers Have Very Little Chance of Securing Title

The much heralded "crucial series" between Vernon and Los Angeles began yesterday with a bang, George Lyons handing Bill Essick's fast falling athletes a 3 to 2 lacing in fourteen innings. The incidentally making it more improbable than ever for Vernon to pass San Francisco in the final race for the Pacific Coast league pennant. The contest was one of the best exhibitions of the national pastime ever staged at Washington park, and was thoroughly enjoyed by all present except Ed Maier, Bill Essick, et al., who now realize that nothing short of a miracle can put their charges in first place by the end of the week. The Seals were idle yesterday, the first game scheduled with the Oaks having been postponed on account of rain.

Twombly Shares Honors
Sharing in the afternoon's honors with Lyons was Babe Twombly, whose trusty bludgeon was responsible for the crack which brought in the winning tally for the Seraphs in the last of the fourteenth. Lindmore, the first man up in this round, went out on a roller, French to Hyatt. McCauley followed this with a warm two-bagger down the left field fence foul line, only to see Lyons tap an easy roller to the pitcher's box. Then, with the shades of night fast falling and a called game eminent, Twombly strode to the plate with four hits already chalked up to his credit and with an air of confidence that told something was to happen. And zowie—it did, in the form of a single to center, bringing in the deciding run and ending the hectic struggle.

Los Angeles started out to do big things in the opener, scoring a brace of runs on three safeties and a sacrifice fly. Big Bill James, who started out on the mound for Essick, was yanked after hurling two-thirds of an inning and was replaced by Roy Gilder, who pitched a superb game from that point on until the fourteenth. But five hits were registered off his delivery during that time. Both of Vernon's runs were scored in the eighth canto, when Charley Deal's error, coupled with a trio of knocks, resulted in a tie score.

Fanned by Cupid
Ray French, Vernon shortstop and one of the real stars of Bill Essick's clan, is the latest Southern California ball player to "take on the halter," he having yesterday morning been married to Miss Marguerite Perkins of Los Angeles. The young infidel, who came to Vernon from the Yankees is one of the best liked and most popular ball tossers in the Coast circuit, and he and his comely bride have the well wishes of baseball followers all over the league. His first trip to the plate

Laumann and Kelly on Tonight's Card

Joe Laumann, rangy 140-pound boxer who administered a severe lacing to Don Lee of San Jose last Wednesday night, will meet Joe Kelly, Los Angeles mauler, in the main event of tonight's weekly fight card at Yoman hall, 1500 South San Fernando road. This announcement was made yesterday by Matchmaker O. M. Clinton of the Modern Woodmen of America, under whose auspices the ring shows are being staged.

Both Laumann and Kelly have obtained a number of followers in their few appearances in Glendale and it is expected that they will be out for blood when the gong signals them to the center of the ring. Kelly is the chap who out-pointed Walter Dodge in last week's semi-windup.

The semi-windup will bring Jack Price, a newcomer to Glendale, against Dodge, who is improving with each bout. Price is the gent who issued a challenge to "any 135-pounder in California" at last week's show.

Dave Casa Grande, the French-Swiss plasterer who recently gave the fans a thrill in his local debut by sheer fighting, has been matched to meet Joe Harris of Los Angeles in one of the events of the evening. This bout should be the feature of the program, as far as action is concerned, as both men are fighters from the word "go." Harris has a record of two knockouts for his last two starts.

"Chic" Watson and Ted Hardy, each tipping the scales at 150 pounds, will face each other in one of the preliminary bouts. Two additional matches will take place, bringing the total up to six. The curtain raiser will be called at 8:15 o'clock.

POOL IN ERUPTION

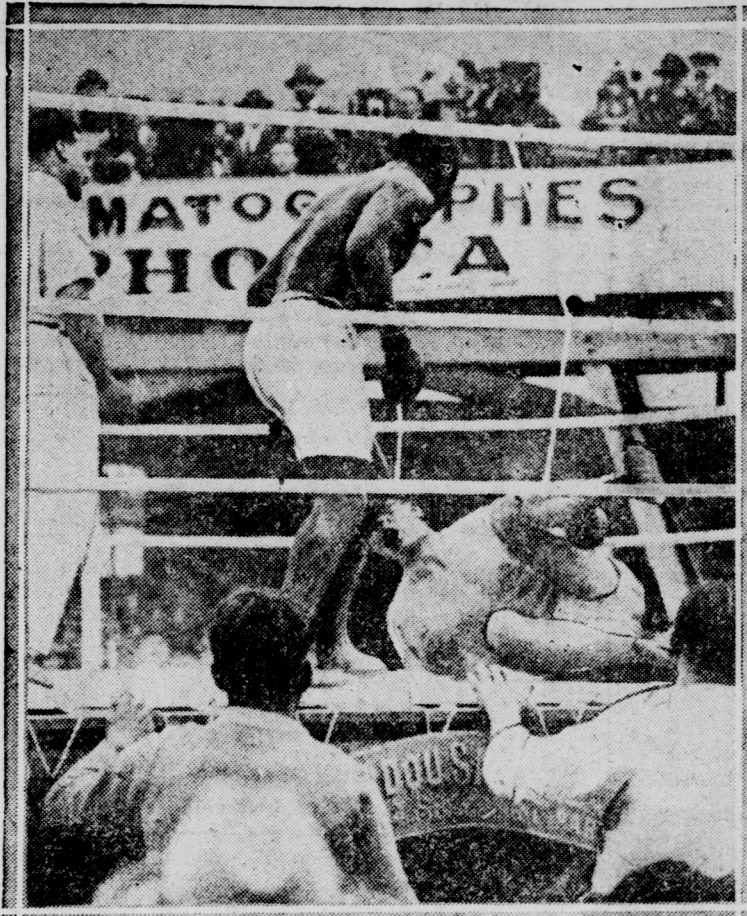

Without preliminary manifestations, a quiet pool, near the head of Obsidian creek, in Yellowstone National park, erupted recently and sent a column of hot mud and rocks 300 feet, inundating the automobile road between Mammoth Hot Springs and Norris Geyser basin.

yesterday saw him being presented with a beautiful bouquet of flowers from a number of his admirers. Jimmy Austin, former boxing champion and a close friend of the player, made the presentation.

May Leading Pitcher
By defeating Oliver Mitchell of San Francisco in last Sunday's final contest at Washington park the Los Angeles baseball team made it possible for Jackie May, star twirler of the Vernon Tigers, to forge into the lead for 1922 pitching honors in the Pacific Coast league. May now has won thirty-three games and lost but nine, his percentage being .788. Mitchell, with twenty-three won and seven lost, is second with .767.

The big San Franciscan is followed by three of his teammates—Scott, McWeeny and Geary—before the name of another twirler appears on the list. Tom Hughes is sixth with an average of .680, while seventh place is being shared by Bill James and Lefty Dumovich, each having a mark of .667.

WHEN CARPENTIER LOSES FIGHT

The knockout of Carpenter by Battling Siki, Senegalese fighter, in the sixth round. The Frenchman was a badly beaten fighter at the end of the fight.

NEW YORK, Oct. 10.—Health perfect as to be almost annoying to others, some sheer luck, the will to carry on under difficulties, but most of all a sincere love for the profession he adores, has enabled Everett Scott, the Yankee shortstop, to play through nearly one thousand consecutive ball games since 1915. It is a record for endurance in professional baseball that may stand forever and only a man with an abiding affection for the game could have been a party to the transaction.

"I will quit playing baseball when they tear the uniform off my back," says Scott, "and then I'll go out and play with the kids on the lots."

Contrast that attitude with the common and accepted theory among ball players that a day off from the field is a boon second only to base hits and pay envelopes. There are players who come to detest the sight of a bat or ball as the season wears on and will resort to all manner of evasions and excuses to escape appearing in the line-up.

Scott played in nearly one thousand consecutive games, not so much because he wanted to create a record, but rather because he is not happy outside a ball park. He is much like Jim McGuire, the old catcher, who would have played till tiffinfall if he could have persuaded anyone to stay out there with him.

Within a matter of weeks Scott paid more than $40 in taxicab and trolley fares to get to Chicago in time to play in a game after his train had been wrecked somewhere over in Indiana. On that occasion, of course, he probably was thinking more of preserving his record than anything else, yet who can say, offhand, that it wasn't his intense desire to help his team that inspired the effort?

It was the third time Scott was able to sustain his record under difficulties. Only kind fate saved him the first time. That was in 1918, when he had played about 550 consecutive games and all was serene until he managed to raise a boil over his right eye. It was extremely painful and virtually closed the eye, so Scott was ordered to his room for the day. But it rained with sincere persistence that afternoon and Scott was back the next day sound as ever.

Subsequently, he was over in Philadelphia for a game and after Wyckoff threw a couple near his head in batting practice Scott started toward the bench. While on his way he turned to give the wild man a dirty look and walked right into one of Wait Hoyt's fast ones as the latter was warming up. The ball landed behind the ear and Scott was out for twenty minutes, but he got up in time to play the game.

Only once during his career in the majors was he seriously injured. In 1915 he was spiked in the foot by Cobb as the Peach came tearing into second base. The next day he tried to play in a pair of Bill Carrigan's shoes, which managed to accommodate his bandaged foot, and in making a quick throw to first tore the ligaments in his ankle.

He was out then for five or six weeks. The chances are that he never forgave himself.

Kelly, Meusel, Nehf Oppose Orient Trip

NEW YORK, Oct. 11.—American ball players who will tour the Orient may be forced to leave without the services of George Kelly, Emil Meusel and Art Nehf of the Giants. It is understood Nehf already has declined and that Meusel will do so today. Kelly is expected to be informed of John McGraw's objection to extend post-season tours.

Laughs at Story of Rickard Buying Yanks

NEW YORK, Oct. 11.—The report that Tex Rickard and Frank P. Hornoy had purchased the New York Yanks and would obtain a new manager to replace Miller Huggins has been laughed at by Colonel Ruppert and Huston, owners of the franchise.

"I will not dignify the report with a denial," was Ruppert's reply, made public today.

'The Stocking Box' Offers Real Values

NORTON P. BUCK
A very tiny little miss washing her doll baby's socks in a mammoth wash tub, while the dolly sits patiently nearby, is the trademark of "The Stocking Box," conducted by Norton P. Buck, "The Stocking Man," in the Court Shops at 211 East Broadway. Mr. Buck, who is a Bostonian, became an adopted Californian four years ago, spending the last two years in Glendale. "We have seen all parts of the country," says Mr. Buck, "but we like this part of California and particularly Glendale."

Mr. Buck has for a long time sold hosiery and has become thoroughly acquainted with the quality makes and styles, his many satisfied customers representing his success. In addition to carrying a line of merchandise that is a necessity are Mr. Buck's experience and training and his artistic shop in which to house his stock.

"I saw the novelty of this building," said Mr. Buck, "and I decided I wanted a shop here. These Court Shops offer the women of Glendale ideal opportunities for shopping by daylight and in securing merchandise in all lines."

In "The Stocking Box" can be found stockings from the most expensive silk to the best grade of silk. Mr. Buck also handles sweaters, scarfs, neckwear and lingerie. Featuring the stocking stock is Corticelli hosiery, which Mr. Buck cites as his very best. "Corticelli hosiery is the real quality," says Mr. Buck. "To prove this is the fact that an order cannot be secured immediately from the Corticelli factory. They only keep half a dozen of a line in stock and they warn all prospective purchasers that when ordering they must anticipate the filling of the order in sixty days. The success of a silk stocking is in its freshness from the factory and Corticelli patrons may be sure they are getting fresh stock and wearing perfectly-made stockings."

"The Stocking Box" is a little shop of honest values. We sell for less and strive for satisfaction in both merchandise and service."

WHAT'S NECESSARY

There is no more interesting indoor sport than classifying people by various tests.

One such test is what do they consider the necessities of life, and what do they regard as luxuries.

There are people who think that it is absolutely necessary to have a good car but that education for their children is a luxury that only the rich can afford.

They Can't Afford Mind Food. There are people whose dining tables are loaded with the best in eatables and whose living room tables are bare of books and magazines. Such people evidently regard the best to eat (I don't mean the most nourishing but the best tasting) as a necessity, and food for the mind as a luxury.

There are also people who can afford to keep themselves always dressed in the height of fashion, but who apparently regard proper food for the family in the light of luxury.

And then there is another line in which people have different ideas of luxuries and necessities, the line of ethics.

He Must Get a Seat. For instance, there is a man to whom it is necessary to get a seat in the street car every night. It isn't necessary to him to give the other fellow a fair chance in the inevitable pushing and crowding; it isn't necessary to him to give a woman with a child a seat; it isn't necessary to him to follow any of the rules of courtesy; but it is necessary for him to always have a seat.

Then there is the man or woman to whom it is necessary to win in any game. It isn't necessary for them to give the other fellow the benefit of the doubt when any question as to some point arises. It isn't necessary for them even to be fair, these are luxuries, but winning is a necessity.

She Didn't Have to Be Deceitful. I heard a woman say to a dressmaker one day: "I must have that gown Monday. I am leaving town Monday night." The dressmaker looked worried to death. "Perhaps I can manage it if you can persuade my embroiderer to work evenings," she said, "but she hasn't been feeling well and didn't want to work over time." After we left the establishment my companion said: "I'm not really going until Wednesday but I wanted to be sure of it, so I said Monday. 'That's the best way.' Evidently it was necessary for her to have that gown but not necessary to treat those who work for her as if they were human beings.

CLUB'S PRESIDENT MAKES ADDRESS

Mrs. Daniel Campbell Calls on Membership to Work in Full Co-operation monument before this community will be a fitting reward for our effort. Is that not cause enough to be proud?

"I am also proud of the many other activities which were inspired by the Tuesday Afternoon club. They are not in the least insignificant. The part played by our club in the Red Cross drives and other work during the world war is worthy of mention. Not only did the club accomplish the tasks set out for it to do, but actually inspired others to put their shoulders to the wheel when the country needed them. Justly can we claim that the present Carnegie library here in Glendale was fostered and mothered by this club. And what could be a better mark of accomplishment? To think that we now have a place where clean and attractive literature is at the disposal of our younger generation should make us proud of our effort along that line. Our new club home will be a harbor for the young people of our community where they can go for clean and wholesome recreation, which is probably one of our greatest needs, and will permit us to help solve one of the outstanding questions of the day. 'What will become of our children?' Truly, I say, I am proud, and we should all be proud of the Tuesday Afternoon club.

About Responsibilities. "And now, ladies, I come to the second fact. As I think of the responsibility of my office as well as the responsibility of the entire club, I am impressed with its solution and not its avoidance. It is the former I wish to speak to you about today.

"When the world was nearly torn asunder in 1914, when the stability and very existence of our union was threatened in 1916, when George Washington and Governor Morris were trying to satisfy the patience of those heroes at Valley Forge through a long cold winter—was it the avoidance or the solution of the responsibility which made history what it is today? Was it avoidance or solution of the problems which has permitted you and me to be here now? The answer is self-evident. Had the Master himself avoided the great responsibilities which were presented to him, I doubt if the world would be worth living in today. All down through history those who have accomplished benefits for mankind, those who have effected happiness for nations and peoples, those who have won glory for themselves and their own, have been confronted with responsibilities, the avoidance of which would have meant a darker place to live for both you and me today. And now the significant thing, I think, is the manner in which the problem was met.

"To us, the basis for all accomplishment, the basis for the solution of all problems, is embodied in one word—co-operation—and if you will review the great problems I have mentioned you will see how true that statement is. Look with me, for a moment, on the recent world problems within the last year. Perhaps the greatest demonstration of the accomplishment of co-operation was the recent peace conference at Washington. Its true significance is not yet fully realized. The co-operation manifested in the World War between these now contracting parties laid the foundation for further co-operation, which recently was exhibited at Washington. What of the problem between Japan and America, had it not been for this last spirit of co-operation? The two nations were drifting apart rapidly because of possible misunderstanding. We were convinced that Japan had set upon an era of imperialism and was endeavoring to annex Siberia as the first step. Since the Washington conference all this has been disproved, and today Japan is withdrawing all troops from Siberia. A misunderstanding which might have developed into hatred has been alleviated by co-operation, and the entire world is better for it.

Co-operation Need. "And so it is with our club. There are now over 700 members of this organization. The more we grow the more becomes the need for co-operation. As we begin this new year there is nothing that impresses me as being so earnestly desired, nothing which will meet our problems quicker, and nothing which will sooner give us that pleasure which we all desire in our club. When this organization was in its infancy, co-operation was a simple matter, because of the small membership. It was that splendid co-operation which made possible the Glendale library, the success of the Red Cross drives, and the foundation for our new club home. Will that spirit continue? I have every reason to believe it will. There is plenty for all to do. Every member of this club is needed for some particular place. The chain of our organization will not be any stronger than the weakest link. The president of our organization or any other, for that matter, is only a spokesman, a representative of the membership. This club is yours, and every member has a definite place. It is not an organization where the minority carry on, where a few must take it upon themselves to perform the duties of the club.

"No, the majority are going to

Home of Own Is Inspiring Thought for Club Members

Mrs. Daniel Campbell, president of the Tuesday Afternoon club, during her address at the first meeting of the organization's new season yesterday, declared:

"Many people are comfortable for a time in rented quarters, but when one can point out a place and say, 'This is our home,' the great spirit which made it possible will flush in each of our faces with a burning pride. So it is going to be with us. We start out this year, knowing that before another year has passed we will be in our own home. We can do it, just as we have accomplished every other object we have set before us. To think of this club as one big family enjoying good music, listening to inspiring lectures and placing an everlasting monument before this community will be a fitting reward for our effort. Is that not cause enough to be proud?"

continue, to have the same love and loyalty, only in a greater degree. In this home which is rising, every woman can find her place helping on committees and sections. Two new sections have been inaugurated this year. Besides the literary, music, drama, and crafts, we will now have bibles and maids and young matrons sections. With over 700 women of the city of Glendale standing together for one definite purpose, we should be inspired by the possibilities of our strength. Opportunities for us to accomplish many good things are offering themselves every day. Today, as in the years that have passed, we hear destructive arguments advanced. But, let us remember, if our vision is restricted, we can not see the opportunities which this club can accept, but with an alert, active membership willing to co-operate not only within our organization, but with those outside who are expecting things from us, we will have opened to us the door through which will flow plenty of opportunities. Our duty is to look for them. What can we do for the betterment of our community—our children and the children of others. I tell you, ladies, this day has presented a problem for our children. There is an opportunity for us there. I think should be said before the children are in danger? If so, what can we do in this community? Surely, if we co-operate we can perfect something which will help meet such problems, not only the one mentioned, but any others which from time to time might suggest themselves.

Regarding Finances. "Within our own organization we have a problem which comes to my mind now, and which I think should be said before the membership at this time. The matter of discussing finances may seem odious, but I believe that you would expect to hear from your president at this time on such a matter of general concern as this. In any event, I desire that you should know that you will appreciate our responsibility and see the further need of co-operation. Members for some years past you have nourished the dreams of the club home. To fulfill that dream you have contributed, you have purchased benefit tickets, you have sold articles at bazaars, etc. As a result we find it possible to proceed with the club home, but there is still much to do, and we can not settle back at this time and think that our sacrifices are over. There are many who are ever willing, but now and then we find a good member who, perhaps not realizing what financing we have to do does not understand that we are not yet through with the task. We are not yet sitting on 'easy street' (if I may use the term). I believe you know exactly what I mean. I mean, friends that we have planned, we have prepared and we have now launched our club home, but there is still much to meet in the financing of this project which we were all so anxious to have. Our great desire to have a club home is not to drop the enthusiasm and courage we have heretofore manifested. The cost of our building alone will be approximately $33,000, without any furnishings, which means that after paying for the lots at a cost of over $17,000, we still have on hand $23,000. We have arranged

Diet and Health By Lulu Hunt Peters, M.D.

BRIGHT'S DISEASE

Inflammation of the kidneys is known as Bright's disease, because about 100 years ago a Dr. Bright of London was the first physician to describe the condition. There are many forms of Bright's disease listed in the textbooks, but it is enough for you simply to know of the acute and chronic forms. The technical name for inflammation of the kidneys is nephritis. Whenever you see the termination "itis," you will know that the word means an inflammation, and the first part of the word tells you what organ is inflamed. For instance, appendicitis, meningitis, inflammation of the appendix; meningitis (the covering of the brain and cord), etc.

You may get thrown off the track occasionally because the prefix may be a Greek or Latin word which sounds like the English word for some organ. For instance, stomatitis does not mean inflammation of the stomach, but inflammation of the mouth, the stoma being the Greek word for mouth. And gastritis means inflammation of the stomach and not inflammation of the gas. (Sawful). Now that your medical education is complete, we will go back to our kidneys.

I told you yesterday of the cause of inflammation of the kidneys. The acute inflammation is the kidney disease of children, especially after scarlet fever. The other infectious diseases may also cause them not so frequently.

Diphtheria is next to scarlet fever and then acute sore throat or acute inflammation of other parts of the body caused by the streptococcus, a virulent micro-organism of the pus-producing type. The chronic diseases of the kidneys are those which dread the infectious diseases of childhood is because of the after-effects of the diseases on the heart and kidneys.

The idea that children are going to have these diseases anyway, and might as well be exposed to them and get over them, is absolutely pernicious. Never expose your child to an infectious disease, but guard him from them in every way possible.

4 out of 5 have pyorrhea

If you have escaped this fearful and destructive mouth disease, if your teeth are sound and firm and the gums are healthy, congratulate yourself, for you are one of a fortunate few. Eighty per cent of all adults are afflicted with Pyorrhea (Rigg's disease) in one of its various stages.

It is estimated that not less than one-half of the teeth that are lost are destroyed by Pyorrhea rather than decay. For Pyorrhea works at the root of the tooth, detaching it first from the gums and then from the bones into which they are set so that they drop out.

To learn whether your teeth are affected you do not need to consult a dentist. Simply examine them and note if any of your teeth yield when pressed by the finger. Test them separately. Then observe whether the gums are receding at any point or whether they cling tightly to the base of each tooth. If not, you may be sure that you have Pyorrhea.

Neglect of such a menace is not to be thought of. Go at once to your druggist and get a bottle of DENTOMEL, the concentrated lemon juice dentifrice and use it twice daily as directed. You will be delighted with the results after only a few days' treatment with this remarkable remedy. (If not your money will be cheerfully refunded.)

SOOTHING POWDERS

Powders are so soothing and refreshing to the skin that they can only be considered beneficial. Those who object to the use of any sort of powder must do so for other than physical reasons, for a pure powder used in moderation can never be harmful.

Face powders are so difficult to make, and so easy and inexpensive to buy, that I usually advise my readers not to attempt making these at home. However, here is a simple one which will be found most satisfactory.

Take any desired quantity of powdered starch, the ordinary sort used for making puddings will do very well, although the starch made from rice or potatoes which is purchased at drug stores is slightly finer and better. Add powdered orris root in the proportion of three parts starch to one of orris root.

That forms the basis of the powder. You will, of course, want it perfumed. If you make this in the summer take the petals of any favorite blossom and bury them in the starch, renewing the flowers every day for a week. Then sift off the powder. By that time it will have a fresh, delicate perfume which you could not possibly buy. If you cannot get fresh flowers rub the top and sides of a small closed jar with perfumed oil, a few drops of which may be purchased at the drug stores. Put the powder in the covered jar and set it away for a week, stirring occasionally.

The best bath powder, by the way, is nothing but ordinary cooking corn starch perfumed as described above, or mixed with a little sachet powder. This is so inexpensive that a big jar of it can always be kept in the bathroom, and it has a softness and silkiness few expensive powders possess.

Mr. J. M.—Apply an astringent to close the enlarged pores. A suggestion for this is witch hazel, or a few drops of benzoin in about a quart of water. Ice cubes are also good.

desire; unless you have decided that your own shade is the best after all. In that case do nothing and wait for the natural shade to return. Many women cut off much of the length to the hair in such cases, as it hastens the recovery.

All inquiries addressed to Miss Forbes in care of the "Beauty Chats" department will be answered in these columns in their turn. This requires considerable time, however, owing to the great number received. The MUCKER

by Edgar Rice Burroughs

Copyright 1921 by Edgar Rice Burroughs

Now the Halfmoon was brought up into the wind where she lay flapping canvas while Skipper Simms returned to the Lotus with the six men of the yacht's crew that he had brought aboard the brigantine with him two days before, and as many more of his own men.

Once aboard the Lotus the men were put to work with those already on the yacht. The boat's rudder was unshipped and dropped into the ocean; her fires were put out; her engines were attacked with sledges until they were little better than so much junk, and to make the slender chances of pursuit that remained to her entirely nil every ounce of coal upon her was shoveled into the Pacific. Her extra masts and spare sails followed the way of the coal and the rudder, so that when Skipper Simms and First Officer Ward left her with all of their own men that had been aboard her she was little better than a drifting derelict.

From her cabin window Barbara Harding had witnessed the wanton wrecking of her father's yacht, and when it was over and the crew of the brigantine had returned to their own ship she presently felt the movement of the vessel as it got under way, and soon the Lotus dropped to the stern and beyond the range of her port. With a moan of hopelessness and terror the girl prostrate across the hard berth that spanned one end of her prison cell.

How long she lay there she did not know, but finally she was aroused by the opening of her cabin door. As she sprang to her feet ready to defend herself against what she thought might easily be some new form of danger her eyes went wide in astonishment as they rested on the face of the man who stood framed in the doorway of her cabin.

"You?" she cried.

CHAPTER V

Larry Divine Unmasked

"Yes, Barbara, it is I," said Mr. Divine, "and thank God that I am here to do what little any man may do against this band of murdering pirates."

"But, Larry," cried the girl, in evident bewilderment, "how did you come to be aboard this ship? How did you get here? What are you doing amongst such as these?"

"I am a prisoner," replied the man, "just as you are. I think they intend holding us for ransom. They got me in San Francisco. Slugged me and hustled me aboard the night before they sailed."

"Where are they going to take us?" she asked.

"I do not know," he replied, "though from something I have overheard of their conversations I imagine that they have in mind some distant island far from the beaten track of commerce. There are thousands such in the Pacific that are visited by vessels scarce once in a century. There they will hold us until they can proceed with the ship to some point where they can get in communication with their agents in the States. When the ransom is paid over to these agents they will return for us and land us upon some other island where our friends can find us, or leaving us where we can divulge the location of our whereabouts to those who pay the ransom."

The girl had been looking intently at Mr. Divine during the conversation.

"They cannot have treated you very badly, Larry," she said. "You are as well groomed and well fed, apparently, as ever."

A slight flush mounting to the man's face made the girl wonder a bit though it aroused no suspicion in her mind.

"Oh, no," he hastened to assure her, "they have not treated me at all badly—why should they? If I die they can collect no ransom from me. It is the same with you, Barbara, so I think you need apprehend no harsh treatment."

"I hope you are right, Larry," she said, but the hopelessness of her air rather belied any belief that aught but harm could come from captivity with such as those who officered and manned the Halfmoon.

"It seems so remarkable," she went on, "that you should be a prisoner upon the same boat. I cannot understand it. Why only a few days ago we received and entertained a friend of yours who brought a letter from you to papa—the Count de Cadenet."

Again that telltale flush mantled the man's cheek. He cursed himself inwardly for his lack of self-control. The girl would have his whole secret out of him in another half-hour if he were not more careful.

"They made me do that," he said, jerking his thumb in the general direction of Skipper Simms' cabin. "Maybe that accounts for their bringing me along. The 'Count de Cadenet' is a fellow named Theriere, second mate of this ship. They sent him to learn your plans, when you expected sailing from Honolulu and your course. They are all crooks and villains. If I hadn't done as they bid they would have killed me."

The girl made no comment, but Divine saw the contempt in her face.

"I didn't know that they were going to do this. If I had I'd have died before I'd have written that note," he added rather lamely.

The girl was suddenly looking very sad. She was thinking of Billy Mallory who had died in an effort to save her. The mental comparison she was making between him and Mr. Divine was not overly flattering to the latter gentleman.

"They killed poor Billy," she said at last. "He tried to protect me."

Then Mr. Divine understood the trend of her thoughts. He tried to find some excuse for his cowardly act; but with the realization of the true cowardliness and treachery of it that the girl didn't even guess he understood the futility of seeking to extenuate it. He saw that the chances were excellent that after all he would be compelled to resort to force or threats to win her hand at the last.

"Billy would have done better to have bowed to the inevitable as I did," he said. "Living I am able to help you now. Dead I could not have prevented them carrying out their intentions any more than Billy has, nor could I have been here to aid you now any more than he is. I cannot see that his action helped you to any great extent, brave as it was."

The memory of it and him will always help me," she answered quietly. "They will help me to bear whatever is before me bravely, and when the time comes to die bravely; for I shall always feel that upon the other side a true, brave heart is awaiting me."

The man was silent. After a moment the girl spoke again. "I think I would rather be alone, Larry," she said. "I am very unhappy and nervous. Possibly I could sleep now."

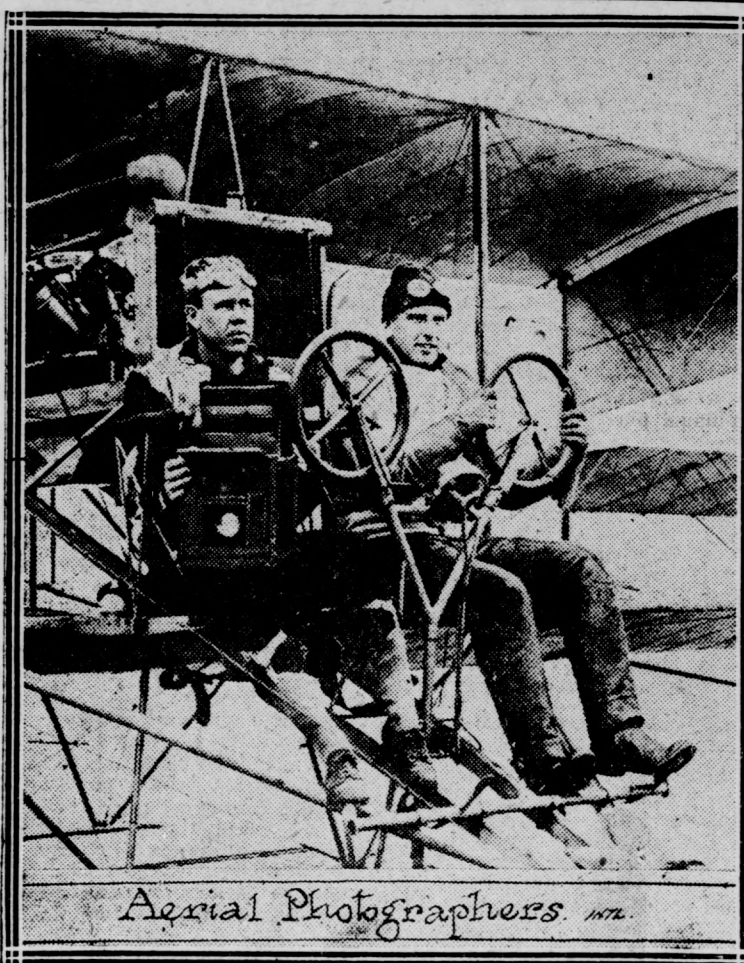

With a bow he turned and left the cabin.

For weeks the Halfmoon kept her way, her course, a little south of west. There was no material change in the relations of those aboard her. Barbara Harding, finding herself unmolested, finally acceded to the repeated pleas of Mr. Divine, to whose society she had been driven by loneliness and fear, and appeared on deck frequently during the daylight watches. Here, one afternoon, she came face to face with her captor. The officer lifted his cap deferentially; but the girl met his look of expectant recognition with a cold, blank stare that passed through and beyond him as though he had been empty air.

A tinge of color rose to the man's face, and he continued on his way for a moment as though content to accept her rebuff; but after a step or two he turned suddenly and confronted her.

Aerial Photography Is Increasingly Important Part of Naval Aviation

Aerial Photographers. 1917.

One of the topics which will come up for discussion at the second national aero congress, which opens tomorrow at Selfridge Field, Mt. Clemens, Mich., will be that of aerial photography.

The United States navy is giving ever increasing attention to this important branch of naval aviation. Most seaplanes now are equipped with photographic paraphernalia, and the uses of the camera are manifold.

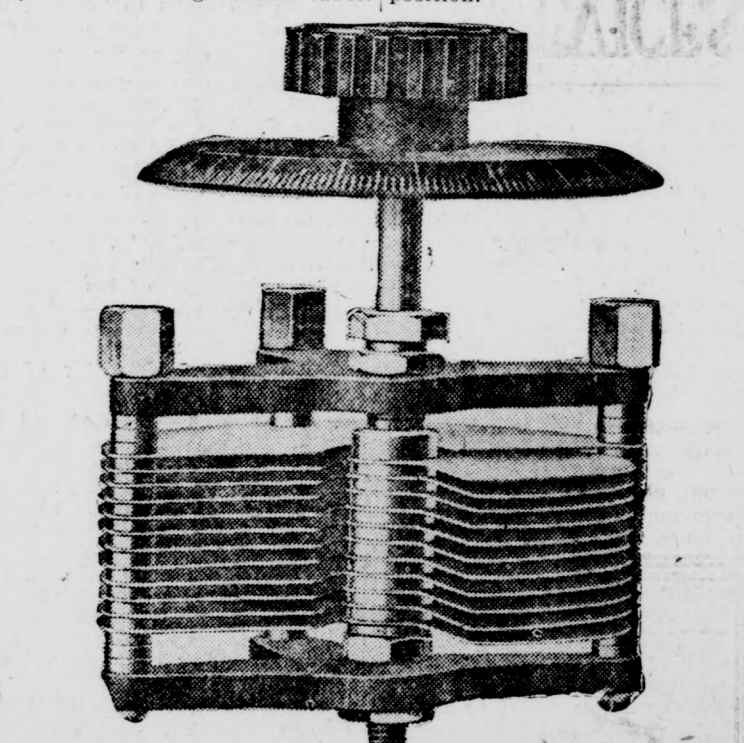

The camera gun is mounted in a fighting plane in the position which would ordinarily be taken by a machine gun. Practice in aerial fighting is carried on so that the camera gun records the accuracy of the aerial gunner and the picture so taken, when developed, shows the number of hits that have been made on the enemy plane.

CURRENT EFFECT PRODUCES ELECTRONS

We generally think of electrons in connection with vacuum tubes. However, when an electric current flows in a conductor there is a flow of extremely small particles of electricity called electrons. The study of these particles is important not only in connection with current flow but also in light and heat and chemistry. The reason for this is that all matter contains them. Matter of all kinds is made up of atoms, which are extremely small parts of matter. (A drop of water contains billions of them.) The atoms contain electrons, which consist of negative electricity. The electrons are all alike and are in turn much smaller than the atoms. Besides containing electrons the atoms also contain a certain amount of positive electricity. Normally the positive and negative electricity are just about equal. However, some of the electrons are not held so firmly to the atom but that they can escape when the atom is violently jarred. When an electron leaves an atom there is less negative electricity than positive in the atom; in this condition the atom is said to be positively charged. When, on the other hand, an atom takes on one or more extra electrons it is said to be positively charged.

FOOD FOR QUAIL

Nearly 14 per cent of the quail's food for the year consists of animal matter, such as insects and their allies. The quail has no superior as a weed destroyer. It is a good ranger and will patrol every day all the fields in its vicinity in search of food.

WHITE HUCKLEBERRIES

White huckleberries are being raised by H. A. Weaver, of Clopa. The berry bush is large and the berries almost transparent. The berries are large and of excellent flavor. This bush is the only bush bearing white berries, though Mr. Weaver has picked 2000 quarts this season on his farm.

Uncle Wiggily Bedtime Stories

— BY HOWARD R. GARIS —

UNCLE WIGGILY AND THE NUT RAIN

Johnnie and Billie Bushytail, the two squirrel boys, were scampering along through the woods, sometimes up in a tree and again on the ground, looking for stray nuts.

"Let's go over to Uncle Wiggily's bungalow!" chattered Billie, as he sat up with his tail curled over his head and nibbled a sweet chestnut he held in his front paws.

"What can we do over there?" asked Johnnie. "Besides, maybe he's out adventuring."

"Yes, and maybe he hasn't started yet," answered Billie. "And if he hasn't gone he'll take us with him and we'll have fun the way we did when we spread butternuts on the other slide and made them slippery."

"That was lots of fun!" chattered Johnnie. "Yes, we'll go to Uncle Wiggily's bungalow."

And over to see the old rabbit gentleman went the two squirrel chaps.

"Oh, he hasn't gone! I see him and he's just starting out!" cried Billie as they saw the bunny gentleman. "Hurry, Johnnie!"

Up to the dear old rabbit gentleman scampered the two brothers.

"Hello, squirrel boys!" laughed Uncle Wiggily with a jolly twinkle of his pink nose. "What's your hurry?" he asked, for they were somewhat out of breath from running so fast. "Is the river on fire?" asked the bunny uncle.

"Of course not!" laughed Billie. "Water can't burn."

"That's right," said Uncle Wiggily. "But why did you hurry so?"

"We wanted to go adventuring with you," said Johnnie.

"Oh, is that so? Well, come along!" invited the rabbit, and over the fields and through the woods he hopped, with Billie scampering on one side and Johnnie on the other side.

They had not gone very far before they heard a voice crying: "Help! Help! Oh, will somebody please help me!"

"That sounds like trouble!" whispered Uncle Wiggily.

"Maybe it's the Skilley Scallery Alligator!" softly chattered Johnnie.

Uncle Wiggily shook his head and whispered:

"No, it can't be the Alligator. He has a bellow like a bull. This voice is more gentle. Listen!"

Again the voice called:

"Help! Oh, please, somebody help me!"

Uncle Wiggily jumped over on the other side of a fallen log, and there he saw a little girl chipmunk, one of those tiny paws was caught in a crack of the log so that she was held fast.

"Oh, you poor child!" exclaimed Uncle Wiggily. "Come here, boys, and help me get Chipmunk loose!" he called to Billie and Johnnie.

"Oh, hello, Chippie!" chattered the squirrel boys, for they knew the little creature. She was a sister to Jennie Chipmunk.

"Hello, Billie and Johnnie," sadly answered Chippie.

But soon she was happy, for Uncle Wiggily, with the help of Billie and Johnnie, loosened her paw from the crack and she was free.

"Oh, thank you, so much!" squealed Chippie in delight. "You were very kind to me and I want to be kind to you."

"The best way to be kind to us would be to tell us where we could get some nuts to eat," chattered Billie. "We're hungry for nuts, Johnnie and I, and we'll crack them so Uncle Wiggily can eat some, too."

"Oh, I know where there are some lovely nuts!" exclaimed Chippie, for she was a sort of squirrel, you know, and lived on nuts and seeds, as did Billie and Johnnie. "Just hop along a little farther," said Chippie, "and you'll come to a large nut tree. You can see it from here—the one with white bark."

The squirrel boys and Uncle Wiggily went along until they reached the tree which Chippie had pointed out to them. But when the squirrel boys looked at the ground not a nut could they see.

"I guess Chippie doesn't know a nut tree when she sees one!" said Billie, much disappointed. Then, all of a sudden, a harsh voice began to bark:

"But I know ears when I see them! And I see Uncle Wiggily's ears now!" Out sprang the Fuzzy Fox, and he was just going to nibble the bunny's ears, and perhaps the ears of Billie and Johnnie also, for all I can tell, when, suddenly the wind began to blow. It shook the branches of the tree with the white bark and then, as quick as a wink, down came a regular shower of nuts!

Brown three-cornered nuts, sharp on the edges, rained down. Some of them hit the Fox on the end of his nose. Oh, such a patter of nuts as the nuts were—regular nut shower! But the rabbit and squirrels were safe under another tree.

"Oh, this is no place for me!" howled the Fox. "It's raining nuts and I have no umbrella!" And away he ran.

"Ha! Ha!" laughed Billie and Johnnie. "Little Chippie was right after all. This is a beech nut tree and it's just loaded with the three-cornered nuts. The reason there were none on the ground was because the wind hadn't yet blown them down. The nuts were all ready to fall."

"And the wind blew just in time to make a nut shower and scare the Fox," said Uncle Wiggily. Then the squirrel boys gathered the beechnuts, cracking some for the bunny gentleman, and they all had fun.

Now if the rice pudding doesn't try to turn into an apple dumpling when it really should be changed into a strawberry shortcake, I'll tell you next about Uncle Wiggily and the green carpet.

BIG EATERS GET KIDNEY TROUBLE

Take Salts at first sign of Bladder Irritation or Backache

The American men and women must guard constantly against kidney trouble, because we eat too much red meat and all our food is rich. Our blood is filled with uric acid which the kidneys strive to filter out; they weaken from overwork, become sluggish, the eliminative tissues clog and the result is kidney trouble, bladder weakness and a general decline in health.

When your kidneys feel like lumps of lead; your back hurts or the urine is cloudy, full of sediment, or you are obliged to seek relief two or three times during the night; if you suffer with sick headache, or dizzy, nervous spells, acid stomach, or if you have rheumatism when the weather is bad, get from your pharmacist about four ounces of Jad Salts; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will be cured. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to flush and stimulate clogged kidneys; to neutralize the acids in the urine so it no longer is a source of irritation, thus often ending bladder disorders.

Jad Salts is inexpensive; cannot injure, makes a delightful effervescent lithia water beverage and belongs in every home, because nobody can make a mistake by having a good kidney flushing any time.—Advertisement.

MAKE LONG JOURNEY

One hundred children from the American School for the Blind in Kharput arrived in Aleppo, Syria, after a 500-mile hike across Asia Minor. It took them a month to make the journey during which time they passed through mountains and over long deserts. Camels carried food and water for the wanderers. The children were Armenian orphans and their pilgrimage is part of the plan of the Near East Relief to remove several thousand of them from Asiatic Turkey.

CALLING IN GOLD

In order to keep American exchange stable, England is calling in all the gold hoarded by individuals during the war. It is estimated that $15,000,000 worth of gold is held by 2,000,000 persons in England. Gold is being shipped to New York at intervals.

UNBREAKABLE GLASS

It is reported that an inventor, after thirteen years of experimenting, has succeeded in producing unbreakable glass. Some of the tests are throwing plates from a height of twelve feet to the ground, standing a temperature of 750 degrees and driving a nail into wood with a cup. This means the saving of thousands of dollars each year in hotel equipment.

Part of Gold Hoard May Go to Europe

WASHINGTON, Oct. 11.—Complete readjustment of the $11,000,000,000 allied debt cannot be worked out as long as the United States continues to hold one-half of the world's available gold supply, Representative Theodore E. Burton, member of the American debt funding commission, told the International News Service today.

Burton said it was to be anticipated that part of the enormous gold reserve held by this country would be gradually returned to Europe as private banking interests arranged for the floating of international loans from time to time and payments in gold were made for European goods imported into the United States as well as for European securities purchased by American investors.

Senator McKinley of Illinois, a member, like Burton, of the American congressional delegation to the recent inter-parliamentary conference at Vienna, pointed out that the total value of the world's available gold supply was approximately $7,000,000,000, or $4,000,000,000 less than the aggregate amount of the allied debt.

The debt problem is not one of cancellation but of collection, McKinley stated. And the way to solve it is not by the United States hanging on to half the gold in the world. Neither could the debt be liquidated with European goods. To flood this country with such goods would mean the closing of American factories and a paralysis of American industry.

Bloodstained Basket May Be Slaying Clew

NEW BRUNSWICK, N. J., Oct. 11.—The finding of a blood-stained basket near the scene of the murder of Rev. Dr. Edward W. Hall, wealthy rector of the Protestant Episcopal church of St. John the Evangelist, and Mrs. James Mills, beautiful choir leader, led to a report today that one or more arrests were expected soon.

Public opinion is growing that the authorities will not be able to prove the charge of first degree murder that has been lodged against Clifford Hayes, 19-year-old boy, who was accused by his chum, Raymond Schneider, of shooting the clergyman, and his companion, in mistake for two other persons.

The basket was discovered in a gully, not far from the spot where the bodies were found beneath a stunted crab apple tree on the old Phillips farm, two miles from this city.

It was an ordinary chip basket of bushel capacity and contained rags and paper stained with blood and covered with finger prints. It appeared as though some one had wiped his hands upon the paper and rags.

Makes Explanation Concerning Armistice

LONDON, Oct. 11.—The armistice agreement signed by the allies and the Turks at Mudanya is purely of military character and has nothing to do with the Near East peace conference which is to follow, according to the following statement made to International News Service today by Reichad Bey, envoy of the Turkish nationalists in London.

"The agreement signed by General Sir Charles Harrington, the British Near East commander, and Ismet Bey is a military convention; nothing else. When the main conference comes Turkey will not agree to any foreign troops maintaining a garrison on the Turkish straits nor foreign warships controlling the straits. The Turks will insist upon participation in the conference by Russia and the republic of Georgia."

Members Take Favorable Vote on Vets' Propositions; New Names

and the chamber went on record as favoring the proposals.

It was pointed out that the act would not increase taxes or costs to the state, as the proposition is to have the state advance money and later get it back from the soldiers. The act is in no way a bonus, it was announced.

Several new members who attended the weekly luncheon for the first time were introduced by President V. M. Hollister.

According to a new plan worked out at the meeting this noon, the directors of the chamber will meet previous to the regular forum meetings in the future.

Several minor changes in the by-laws of the organization were suggested and approved.

DAMAGED BY QUAKE

ROME, Oct. 11.—Precisely at the same hour as happened a year ago an earthquake shock occurred at Ancona today. The population was thrown into a panic and considerable damage was done.

SOMETHING BETTER

Considering the present high cost of labor, it does not pay to use inferior materials in painting your house. The California climate requires paints especially mixed to meet the individual requirements of each job. All our paints are mixed on the job, under the supervision of an expert in this particular line.

Let us give you an estimate on your work, both interior and exterior.
